

The easy way to learn a foreign language

People who go from various countries to Ukraine travelling or to study Ukrainian culture can learn Russian in Ukraine. Learning foreign language you can start by two ways - by speaking and reading. First way is major for people who have nice mechanical memory, rumor abilities. The second way will be fantastic for people with good rational memory, abilities to sensible thinking, comparison. But whatever you decide to start with you will have to learn all kinds of verbal motion: speaking, writing, translation, understanding. To learn words effectively, first of all, you should study how to use dictionary. Main, you should not gather words just seeing them, without contest, because this way will not help you to learn them exactly, you will just memorize them for some minute. There are some special programs, for instance, Russian immersion program, which can help you to study easier foreign language. Second, you should pay attention for all means of the word you are interested in and do not stop on the first meaning. Third, do not use too small dictionaries, there are not much good of them exist. You should better start as fast as you can use monolingual explanatory dictionaries. So, let's suppose that you have already chosen the word from dictionary; next trouble is - how to save it in our memory? That depends on kind of chattels of your memory. You should take a look on what exactly way helps you to memorize words. Some people use cards, which they can bring everywhere. Others prefer to write the words on big pieces of paper and hang it at home or even at their job. That is good way, but you should always change the papers with words, because after some time past you will treat those papers with foreign words like a piece of interior in your room and do not pay any attention to them. Next advice - get know rules of derivation and then, if you look one word in dictionary you can form other cognate words using it. If you want to strengthen your own vocabulary fast you should better gather the words with the same theme, like - food, cities, games, travelling. Study Russian abroad is great idea because you will have important opportunity to practice with native speakers. There is another good way to learn foreign words - to read out some text with new words and record it on the tape and then - to listen yourself on the tape. This way is really helpful, because you can notice the way you say new words and fix it according to the laws of language you study.
